

Sunningdale Tech Secure Trade Corporate Policy Statement

Sunningdale Tech is committed to the highest standards of quality and integrity in our products and operations. We recognize the need to protect our product and resources from potential acts of terrorism or trafficking throughout our segment of the international supply chain. We strive to identify and prevent internal and external threats that could compromise the security and integrity of our employees, products, customers, suppliers and other supply chain partners. We commit to comply with secure trade requirements and focus on continuous improvement in accordance with standard legislations globally.

We encourage all employees and supply chain partners to become familiar with our supply chain security practices and procedures and to remain alert to any anomalies in the international supply chain that could potentially jeopardize the security and integrity of our products and the welfare of employees. We reserve the right to modify processes and procedures as necessary to comply with applicable laws. Any security-related concerns shall be reported to whistleblowing@sdaletech.com.
